NEW YORK, May 11 .- Fordham defeated its ancient rival, Georgetown Universcore of 6 to 2, this afternoon at Fordham field. The visitors fought until the last man had flied out and kept the interest of the large crowd present to its highest pitch throughout the game. The students were jubilant over the victory and marched around the field singing after the contest was over. "Billy" Walsh, the Maroon twirler, covered himself with glory in winning the last game of the annual series with Georgetown. This is the second victory this season for Walsh over the Southerners and proves beyond doubt that he is the master of the Blue and Gray batters.

Georgetown Dangerous.

Georgetown was dangerous from the very beginning, for the second and third batsmen to face the Fordham moundsman hit the ball safely, but they proved to be the only ones who could connect with Walsh's benders. Special Dispatch to The Star. BALTIMORE, Md., May 11.-August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club and one of the chief pillars of racing in America, arrived in town to-day in time to see his colors borne to victory in the Pimlico Nursery by the black colt Rock View, by Rock Sand, the $125,000 English Mr. Belmont watched the race from the stewards' stand and there was not a happier person among the 11,000 Ryan Holds Kendall Green Batters devotees of the thoroughbreds who witnessed the running of the card. Mr. Belmont's silks have not been in the foreground this spring as they have in previous meetings, but to-day was a great day for the New Yorker. Besides winning the Nursery, one of the classics of the Maryland Jocky Club, his Tipsand cantered under the wire in front in the econd rave on the program. Jockey Tommy McTaggart rode both of Bel-mont's winners to-day, and so pleased was the chairman of the Jocky Club with the boy's riding that he has secured his contract for a year.

Ral. Parr's Lace, that captured the Clabaugh Memorial Cup so handily last

Hugh, his stable companion, ran a great race, coming under the wire second, but never troubled the winner during any part of the journey. Lace stumbled and went to her knees, coming round the far turn, spoiling what chances she had of getting the purse. Rock View was splendidly handled by McTaggart, who eased his mount up at the end. when it is needed and on but few occasions has he been unsuccessful in driving the first man to get on around to third in the first inning of the game. For a little man, Faster is a remarkably strong batter. He not only has the ability to hit into either field, but he hits the ball hard. Foster easily leads his team in hitting and at the rate he is going there will be but a handful of players who will beat him out on the season, for while he hits well, he is also a hard man to pitch to and will walk a whole lot during the year.

Clarence Walker made one of his famous circus catches off Ryan's bat in the second inning, when he went to the fence and speared the little fielder's drive with one hand. Walker could not gauge Mitchell the first two times up when he fanned, but he made a screeching single in the fourth which helped to give his team a comfortable lead.

Tom Hughes' injured side is mending rapidly, and he expects to be able to take his regular turn on the slab in about a week. Hughes is badly needed, for he is a week. Hughes is badly needed, he i appears to be in better form his spring
